Grants by Program Area FY 2014
Arkansas Community Foundation provides grants in support of projects that fill gaps in our communities. Since 1979, we’ve made more than $125 million in grants to cause ranging from animal welfare and environmental stewardship to economic development and hunger relief. For grant guidelines and additional information on applying for grants, visit www.arcf.org/grants.

Five-Year Gifts 2010-2014

This past year, we introduced a new tagline, “Smart Giving to Improve Communities,” and in this year’s annual report we are sharing a few stories of individuals whose lives have been touched by our donors. We are excited to offer this additional information to help you make informed giving decisions.

As we look forward to the new year, we believe there are many opportunities to make a real impact on the lives of Arkansans. As our 2013 annual report illustrates, the Foundation continues to make a positive impact in our communities.

The King Opera House is a landmark in Van Buren’s historic downtown, listed on the National Register of Historic Places and serving as an anchor for tourism. For a dusty decade, the renovated venue has been the theater’s dinner theater and community events. And now, with support from the James G. and Carole Williamson Endowment at Arkansas Community Foundation, the King Opera House offers screenings of new feature films and live theater work that highlights the theater’s storied past and haunted legends.

The King Opera House documentary adds another attraction that will enhance visitors’ experience and give tourists a reason to spend a full day exploring Van Buren.

Carole and Jim Williamson have a Vision for Van Buren

Jim and Carole envision a Van Buren that is the same destination as yesterday but also a place where visitors can see a new dollar in the local economy. They also envision a Van Buren where locals enjoy education and enrichment opportunities that reflect their quality of life. Though they have never been involved in the arts community, they’ve worked to bring together the people and resources to make it happen.

“We want to see things get done in Van Buren that probably wouldn’t be done otherwise—things that are meaningful for other people,” said Jim Williamson. “This community. We’ve been here since 1958, and we want our city to be the best it can be for everyone!”

OUR DONORS
We thrilled you with thousands of Arkansans who work with Arkansas Community Foundation to improve our neighborhoods, our towns and our entire state. Donors throughout Arkansas have established more than 1,750 charitable endowments and funds to support the causes they care about. To learn more about these funds or to view a list of the members of our Giving Tree Society and Diamond Society, visit www.arcf.org.

Keep Your Giving on Track
Arkansas Community Foundation is in the business of providing resources to make charitable giving easier and more effective. Our Aspire Arkansas report is a tool you can use to identify local needs and find your giving which can make the most difference. Inside the report, you’ll find county-by-county data on student math and literacy scores, educational attainment, poverty rates, obesity rates, infant mortality rates and more. View Aspire Arkansas online: http://arkansas.aspire.org/report or request a hard copy (888-220-2722), and start building your personal giving roadmap.

Even After His Lifetime, Lindsey Robison East’s Giving Makes an Impact

In 2013, Hot Springs Area Community Foundation’s board members received data from the Aspire Arkansas report and were concerned about low graduation rates in their area. They approached the Hot Springs School District to talk about how the Community Foundation could help, and were excited to be able to provide grant funding for Operation Graduation. Though it will be a couple more years before the program’s impact on graduation rates can be proved, those who have participated agree it is working well so far.

“At the end of the day, we all want the same thing for Arkansas—strong communities,” and in this year’s annual report we are sharing a few stories of individuals whose lives have been touched by our donors. We are excited to offer this additional information to help you make informed giving decisions.
